Report type: Update

Company Overview

China-based COMBINE WILL has 3 businesses. ODM/OEM in premiums, household products and toys major customers to world-top players in fast-food, FMCG, and toys. Major supplier of plastic-injection and die-cast moulds. Distributes machines used to make these moulds.

- Our previous target price, $0.90 was almost hit.
- FMCG customer reported strong 4Q11 result ~ +8%y-y.
 Guides segment/total increase 67% to 72% by 2016.
- Fast-food chain & toy customers reported strong 4Q11.
- RIM values it at $2.67 but fundamental-related price setting gives a more conservative target.
- Upgrade to BUY with target price of $1.35.

What is the news?

There is no news from the company - we are waiting for its 4Q11 result. Meanwhile its major customers have reported. For 4Q11: The fast-food chain operator reported +10%y-y revenue. The FMCG reported +6%y-y revenue and guided that segment to grow from the current 67% of the whole pie to 72% by 2016. The toymaker's growth in its 'boys' category (a broad definition) was very strong too.

How do we view this?

We are seeing weak performances in mould makers. But the impressive performances of its ODM/OEM customers give comfort to its guidance of a profitable 4Q11. Going into 2012, we see from the FMCG customer's corporate slides that 4 of its several power-brands to be launched in 1H12 are capable of being manufactured by COMBINE WILL. If 2 of these eventually go to COMBINE WILL, then the perceived hard landing in China may not affect COMBINE WILL in a major way.

Investment Actions?

We are returning to BUY mode – first, as the general market seems to be coming to a temporary top from its 13-week bottom of 12 December 2011, and then into a cycle low on 12 March 2012 before continuing to a high in late April 2012. COMBINE WILL has not really taken part in the rally up from 12 December and probably would not follow the down leg. Second, the positive results of its customers would unlikely to lead to a nasty surprise for 4Q11.

But we will still peg our target price, as we move forward, on a fundamental-related price that is based on its own history.

Our previous target price of S$0.90 was almost hit

In our previous report, we said, "We are finding a low price point ... a target price until mid-January of SG90¢." The price did SG88¢ on 13 February 2012.

Very small volumes

For the 40 trading days since our previous report, 31 days went by on zero volume. There was trading in the last 8 days.

Let's revisit some per-share fundamentals and ROE

Trading ranged from a 0.39X NBV (net book value) in 1Q09 to a high of 1.2X in 3Q10 and 0.9X in 1Q11, driven first by its good performance and then by its attempted Korean listing. When the latter failed, the share price felled to 0.27X.

At the relatively low valuations of 2Q09 and 3Q09, it did between 0.41X and 0.48X.

We are pegging our new target price to somewhere in this range, which is 0.45X. This translates to a share price of SG$1.35.

Valuation, using the Residual Income Method

We apply a ROE of 13% and a 2-year time horizon.

This gives a fair valuation of S$2.67.

However, due to its low volumes, the Korean IPO hangover, we are using a much more conservative valuation i.e. a similar P/B valuation in the 2Q09 and 3Q09 period.

Target Price

Our target price of S$1.35 is 62% higher than the previous close of S$0.83. Hence, BUY.

Remarks

We do not base our recommendations entirely on the above quantitative return bands. We consider qualitative factors like (but not limited to) a stock's risk reward profile, market sentiment, recent rate of share price appreciation, presence or absence of stock price catalysts, and speculative undertones surrounding the stock, before making our final recommendation
